DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of SEQ ID NO: 2 in the reply filed on 10/5/2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that it would not be burdensome to search all fifteen sequences. This is not found persuasive for reasons set forth in the restriction requirement sent 12/18/2002.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 1, 3, 5, 7 and 12-15 are under consideration.

Withdrawn objections/rejections

The new title of the invention is acknowledged.

The rejection of claims under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd paragraph is withdrawn in view of applicants amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1, 3, 5, 7 and 12-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. This is a new matter rejection.

In response to the first office action, applicants amended the specification, introducing a sequence listing containing fifteen sequences that were not part of the original disclosure.

As stated in the first office action on the merits, Tables 1-3 list a number of identifiers of genes, but fail to indicate what the sequences are (which sequences are necessary to practice the claimed methods), nor do they provide clear identification of the intended sequences, nor where such can be obtained. As such is essential to the practice of the invention, the written description fails to support the claims. Further, the specification states at page 4 that the tables are “based on the Incyte, Inc. mouse cDNA array.” This is not a disclosure of sequences contained in such array, as such is proprietary, is not static, and is not available to the Examiner or to the public at large, and the Examiner cannot determine how the tables are “based” on such, nor whether the designations therein can be correlated to specific sequences. Further, the specification states that the genes of Table 1 are upregulated in “Y1” cells, but fails to identify those cells; a search of the ATCC website revealed no cell lines designated “Y1”, so they appear not to be publicly known. Accordingly, in addition to not identifying the particular genes, the specification as originally filed does not even provide an adequate written description of what cells the genes were isolated from, nor even the species of animal of origin.

It is further noted that as no specific reference has been given for each of the sequences in the tables, it cannot be considered that such have been incorporated by reference (although such incorporation by reference would itself be improper).

Therefore, the amendment to introduce fifteen sequences into the specification and claims is not supported by the tables referenced by applicants, and constitutes new matter.

In addition, the amendment of the claims to state that the method uses a threshold of “at least a two-fold increase” is new matter. The Examiner cannot locate, nor have applicants pointed out, basis for said limitation in the specification as originally filed.

Finally, applicants are cautioned that, should the new matter rejection be overcome, the rejection under 35 U.S.C. §112, first paragraph would be maintained on the basis of lack of adequate written description of “human genes homologous” to the murine genes in question.

Conclusion

No claim is allowed.

Art Unit: 1647

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
